

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Introduction	vii
Chapter 1 Sensitive Events in Literacy Development Stuart McNaughton	1
Chapter 2 A Systems View on Changing Trajectories of Learning Helen Timperley	15
Chapter 3 Teaching as Inquiry in the New Zealand Curriculum: Origins and Implementation Claire Sinnema and Graeme Aitken	29
Chapter 4 Against All Odds: The Retention and Success of Under-represented Groups in a Bachelor of Education Programme in New Zealand Pamela Millward	49
Chapter 5 Beginning Teachers' Thinking and Practice: Possibilities and Problems for New Zealand Mentors Frances Langdon	65
Chapter 6 Is Critical Thinking Good for your Health? Critical Literacy as Health Literacy Margaret Sinkinson	85
Chapter 7 The Added Value that Drama Education Brings to Teacher Education Elizabeth Anderson	103
Chapter 8 Opportunities and Impediments: Drama in Vocational Education Paul Heyward	117
Chapter 9 Consciously Raising Awareness Through Mindfulness in Student Social Workers Shirley-Ann Chinnery	131
Chapter 10 Literacy "By Hook or by Crook": Differentiated Access to Literacy in Secondary English Classrooms Claudia Rozas Gómez	149

Chapter 11	Language Learning in the Third Space: Students' Changing Learning Trajectories Helen Villers, Constanza Tolosa and Martin East	165
Chapter 12	Trajectories and Deviations: The Complexities around Preparing Preservice Teachers for Teaching 21st Century "Digikids" Judine Ladbroke	179
Chapter 13	Riding the Wave: Using Web 2.0 Technology to Develop Nature of Science Understanding among Preservice Teachers Rena Heap	201
Chapter 14	Does "It" Last? Sustainability of Literacy Interventions Mei Kuin Lai, Stuart McNaughton and Selena Hsiao	219